

New and more playful Leva. Outside just like home.

The past year has been a real test for everyone. Distance learning, mandated home office, division and exclusion. That desire to be outdoors and get out of the stereotypical Covid-19 routine that has slowly crept into our lives was a feeling felt in Egoé too, so it set right to work on further developing the system Leva. The product, a mainstay in the portfolio of this company from Bílovice in Eastern Moravia, was ready for that proverbial facelift. Simple design remains but several new accessories emerged, ideas founded upon years of experience and use by Leva customers and us.

Leva is a modular system. It's a puzzle bringing you back to childhood as you put it together. Play, think, combine. Let its playfulness swallow you up. One cube, two, three. Create your foundation. And what about the roof? There are several options – a folding fabric roof, a corrugated polycarbonate roof with UV filter or a light slatted ceiling offering a nice compromise between sunlight and shade.

There's something for everyone also in the selection of side walls. A waterproof fabric wall, which can be rolled up or completely unsnapped and removed. This gives you the possibility to let in just as much light or shade as you wish. And what about having an herb garden? This too may be part of your Leva when choosing a slatted wall with integrated planters. We also offer a solid "chalk board" wall that will awaken in you that hidden artist with chalk in hand, or a children's climbing wall with professional climbing holds, on which your children can imagine they've just climbed an 8,000-meter mountain.

Cube accessories are vibrantly developing too. Experience the joy of cooking under the stars in your outdoor kitchen. Observe the activities around you from the comfort of your integrated seating area designed specifically for Leva to make optimal use of the space available. You can stretch your body out a bit in the simple outdoor gym, and afterwards enjoy a well-deserved rest, perhaps with a favorite book, in the spacious rocking bed.

The modular system Leva and Egoé want to offer new possibilities of outdoor living, whether you're at home, at work or anywhere else. Enjoy a sanctuary on the terrace or garden created by Leva home, set up your outdoor office by choosing the variant Leva office. In cooperation with mmcity +, a brand-new series has been born - Leva public, offering a cozy place to rest by a bike trail, in the city park or at the gas station.

Play, combine, think up. Whichever variant you choose, Leva will become your favorite place.
